Recognition of Dullness Makes the Market Duller Than Ever.

THE TRADING WAS PARALYZED

Professional Operators Not Inclined to Speculate on Eve of a Holiday.

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK. June 28.—The current dearth of orders for execution in the stock market prompted the Stock Exchange authorities to order the exchange closed for the short Saturday session preceding the Monday, July 4th, holiday, But it appears that this recognition of the scarcity of business is having some ag-gravating effect on the duliness. Professional operators are habitually disinclined to enter upon speculative commitments on the eve of a holiday on account of their on the eve of a holiday on account of their feeling that any sudden occurrence likely to affect the market violently would leave them at a disadvantage in the prolonged interval with no market available in which to take measures for their protection or for their advantage. The approaching triple holiday was widely credited with the paralysis of the trading today. The term stagnant is hardly a figure of speech when applied to the market. Many stocks, usually prominent, were not dealt in at all, and those which were drifted idly an eighth up or an eighth down. Conclusions to be drawn from the weekly crop bulletin proved rather baffling, but the fall in wheat left room for much disturbance over the crops. London reported prospects for a revived market with the passing of the slock market, settlement and of the half yearly settlements. An advance of price of the relined sugar met no response in the stock market.

The dwindling of the bond market is a disappointment to those hoping for improvement starting from that department. Movements of many dormant issues suggest an investment search, but the usually active list of bonds shows some decline in prices and a number of gaps where no transaction at all is reported. Total sales, par value, $2,05,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

The total sales of stocks for the day were 115,900 shares. feeling that any sudden occurrence likely

COTTON MARKETS.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The cotton market opened weak at a decline of 2224 points on the old crop and of 5421 soints on the new crop positions under liquidation and bear pressure, and increased the decline sorpewhat in the first few minutes in response to lower Liverpool cables than expected, roports that about 20,000 July notices were circulating and generally favorable weather accounts. It was felt, however, that the break abroad had been manipulated from this side in order to the beauty of the control of the con day.

Receipts of cotton at the ports to-day were.

See bales against 1.662 hat week and 7.132 last year. For the week 15.000 bales against 14.376 hast week and 18.663 hast year. To-day's receipts at New Orleans were 559 bales against 4.611 last year, and at Houston 276 bales against 106 last year.

SCORED CHAIN GANG METHODS

Judge Speer Renders an Important Decision in Georgia.

(By Associated Press.) MACON, GA., June 28.—United States District Judge Emery Speer, of the Westin Division of the Southern District of Georgia, to-day rendered an opt ion of far-reaching importance, involving the authority of municipal courts all over the country, to sentence violators of municipal ordinances to local chain-gangs. municipal ordinances to local chain-gangs. The case came before Judge Speer on a writ of habeas corpus, applied for by Hanry Jamison, a negro, for release from the custody of E. A. Wimbish, super-intendent of the Bibb county (Georgia) chain-gang. Judge Speer, in a lengthy opinion, decided that the superintendent was without authority to held the prisoner, and he directed his immediate release.

opinion, decided that the superminance was without authority to haid the prisoner, and he directed his immediate release.

In passing on the case, Judge Speer called attention to the fact that the commitment from the recorder's court "was a sentence and nothing more," and that there was no finding of guilt or innocence by the recorder. The question involved, said Judge Speer, "is whether the recorder of Macon can, without any ort of criminal pleading, and without the intervention of a jury, convact a clizen twice for violation of a municipal ordinance, and scattence him to seven months at hard labor on the public chain-gang, the punishment to be suffered in a branch of the penitentisry." Continuing, he said:

"Can it be maintained in the light of the Constitution, that one man, under any form of procedure, devised, or to be devised, by local legislation, can consignian, women and children to a chaingang for such trivial offenses as are within the jurisdiction of a police magnistrate?"

Judge Speer severely scored the chaingang methods, and then pronounced the sentence of the recorder, for want of due process of law and because one man (annot judge, infamy. He further declared that the argument had been advanced by a road commissioner that while a sentence to the chain-gang would forever run a white man, prevoculy respectable, it had no such effect on a respectable negro. He 'held that such considerations do not appeal to a court charged with the equal enforcement of the law, and he did not believe they met the approbation of the best people of the Southern States, nor were they conducive to the welfare of the South or nopeul for its future.

Judge Speer concludes with an argument made by him twenty years ago and which he reaffirms. In this he said that "though the color line expert may so declare, this is no color line case. It is a negro to-day. It will be a white iman, aye, a white child and a white woman to-morrow. In this court, the law is equal and for all."
